In the center of it all

Dear Friends, Supporters and Partners,

As we come to the completion of our eight year of funding projects in Turkey, we reflect on our relationship with each of the stakeholders that makes our organization succeed. Our donors who keep us giving, our partners who keep us motivated, and our nexus of friends that has shaped TPF into the community leader are all the elements that brought us to present day. At the heart of it all, we have created a network of moving parts that rely on our synergy to bring uplifting projects and ambitious impact for social change in Turkey.

This past year has brought upon our organization a great deal of positive change. First, we implemented our multi generational succession plan. Our Founding President and CEO, Özlenen Eser Kalav, to whom we owe a great deal of gratitude for helping establish and grow TPF to where it is today, has become a Trustee, leaving the next generation of leaders to take the helm. We also appointed new Board and Advisory Board members to our team, hired new professionals and saw significant growth in Friends and Founders Society membership.

It was also the year we were invited to NASDAQ, which allowed Times Square to don proudly to TPF logo, the signing of the Girl Declaration, an international movement which calls for inclusion of girls in development, our first ever 10K run and the creation of TPF Stars, a program which provides scholarships to young women, thanks to our TPF Young professionals events at Pera Soho.

In expanding our reach and amplifying our brand awareness, we solidified partnerships with key thought leaders across our four issue areas who are our first ever Goodwill Ambassadors: Mithat Bereket, Jülide Ateş, Ali Nasuh Mahruki and Üner Kırdar. Volunteering their time to increase awareness around TPF’s causes, they’re now an integral part of our family.

It’s also been a special time of inspiration. In the next pages you’ll read in depth some of the most sincere acts of generosity that TPF was honored to facilitate. These stories touch upon how individuals and entire communities can come together make long-lasting impact.

As we grow, people are turning to TPF as the thought leader in our industry. They turn to us to build prospects, and invest in Turkey, and we have proven to the Turkish-American community that through our solid system of outreach and influence, we perform. TPF takes its role as leader in the community to heart, and therefore we have been structuring ourselves to have enhanced capabilities to bring to realization our donor’s philanthropic passions.

With less than two years until our tenth anniversary, we are also looking ahead. This February 2016 on our ninth anniversary, we will announce our “Countdown to 10/10” campaign which aims to increase TPF’s reserve funds to $10 million by our tenth anniversary. A stronger TPF will enable us to support our mission with greater reach and most importantly will allow us to positively impact our partner NGOs in Turkey so that they can be more effective on the ground.

We invite you to be a part of this celebration to help raise funds, sustain our organization, increase our reach and bring us to the next level of philanthropic giving.

We encourage you to see the TPF star as a beacon of hope. Seeing it alongside a project means we are calling in all reinforcement to maximize impact and bring change. This past year has been about helping people look at us to see TPF as an innovative problem-solver. We’re thrilled to be at the center of this passionate group of donor and partners, and leave our mark of turning individuals into philanthropists.

Our very best,

Our work

At TPF, we provide a variety of services to our donors allowing them to personalize their giving plans. From Donor Advised Funds (DAF) to Memorial Funds, TPF manages your flow of subscriptions and investments. We also work with any assets you have available to give. Cash, securities, closely held stock, restricted securities and real estate assets are just some of the ways people have chosen to give through TPF.

When it comes to making a difference, TPF focuses its efforts on the four most pressing social issues that face Turkey today. We work in collaboration with experts on the ground who run and operate the programs with the highest impact in our four issue areas: Gender Equality, Education, Social and Economic Development and Disaster Relief. These organizations, who are vetted on a yearly basis, provide us with the most up to date information on each issue. Our partners have the most hands on experience by working one on one in schools, with scholarship recipients and through emergency situations.

Our work within the social and economic development sector has aimed to increase social awareness about disadvantaged groups and close the opportunity gap.

TPF contributed

towards the first community foundation in Turkey, supporting the town of Bolu.

TPF's work in gender equality aims to close the gender gap and allow for equal opportunities of success among both men and women.

TPF supported

178

Girls Scholarships

20

Girls employed through Kilim Weaving Workshop

TPF raised over $141,835 to aid in the redevelopment and relief efforts in the town of Soma.

Founded out of the critical need immediately following the 2011 Van earthquake, TPF has become an integral community organizer during times of emergency, including the 2014 Soma mining disaster and during the rebuilding phases that come after.

55% of TPF's grants are invested in Education

20 TPF established full scholarships to Darüşşafaka graduates for college

TPF believes education holds the key to Turkey's development and the capacity to break the intergenerational cycle of poverty.

The Impact

Weaving Futures After Soma

On May 13th, 2014, an explosion in a coal mine in Soma, Manisa claimed the lives of 311 men, leaving behind hundreds of women and children without husbands, fathers, uncles and brothers. In most cases, the husbands were the sole breadwinners of the family, leaving families with no source of income. In other cases, there were survivors, but they were so badly injured that they are unable to work. Among the funds raised for Soma relief, $21,354 went to an organization called "Anatolian Artisans" that aimed to empower the women left behind.

TPF spoke with Yıldız Yağcı, Founder and President of Anatolian Artisans. After disaster struck in Soma, it was apparent that the women affected in the area needed to quickly begin financially supporting their families. With TPF's grant, Anatolian Artisans was able to set up an entire workshop from scratch in Soma. Here, women learn to sew and create handmade goods, which can be sold for profit. New supplies and new furnishings all created a safe haven for hurting women to turn over a new chapter in their lives. Yağcı explains the workshop as "giving attendees a sense of pride, getting out of the house and coming to the workshop, socializing with peers who have the same problems is like therapy." Anatolian Artisans is based on strict principles of giving fair wages and a safe work environment to the women that participate. In order to adhere to those principals*, the workshops began with a small group of 25 women, but plan to expand after a strong foundation is created. There is a waiting list of over 180 women who wish to participate in the program. Yağcı recounts the time immediately following the accident being terrible for surviving families. With little choices for income other than cleaning homes, Yağcı says Anatolian Artisans gives women a chance to create and make something of their own. She says 'it gives them hope to see that they are not alone in their plight because organizations like ours have come to assist them.' What's next for this organization? They plan to expand their operations in Soma to meet the needs of more women. Additionally, they will also be developing a project to help a group of Syrian women refugees who are a part of the 500,000 refugees living in the outskirts of İstanbul.

Soma Recap: During TPF's fundraising phase, more than 500 donors have contributed to the cause. TPF supported organizations involved in rebuilding and resilience activities in Soma and surrounding towns. In addition to Anatolian Artisans, TPF was able to work with three other organizations. Through these organizations, TPF will be funding scholarships through a private institution, giving four outstanding children of the mining victims a private education. Next, TPF helped purchase a building to house a Cultural Activity Center and assisted with the operating costs of the first year. The Cultural Activity Center features creative studios for children, provides sessions for psychosocial support and offers skill-building workshops to both men and women. This building also serves as a central hub for other nonprofits in the area. With the funds raised, we were able to support educational programs to be held at the Cultural Activity Center. Programs cover a variety of topics from pre-school education, play and reading groups and family education to adult literacy, serving 1,500 to 2,000 families per year.

TPF can always count on our donors and friends to aid in time of need. We thank you for all of your support.

Maximize Giving with a Donor Advised Fund

Ahmet Bozer, Executive Vice President at The Coca-Cola Company

With so many ways to become a philanthropist through TPF, one is a Donor Advised Fund (DAF). A DAF allows you to set aside funds today for this tax season, but choose the recipient at any time down the road. TPF spoke with Ahmet Bozer, Executive Vice President at The Coca-Cola Company. As a DAF holder with TPF, Bozer decided to invest in the future of young women's education.

A remedy for the feeling of indebtedness is "to give for good causes" says Bozer. He described the feeling when he sees people positively affected by his actions as an "instant warmth you can't explain."

Bozer came to know about our organization through TPF's founder, Haldun Tashman. Having met him years ago in Istanbul, Bozer described him as "someone with heart, who humbly serves." Upon moving to the United States for work, he knew the top organization to give back to Turkey would be TPF.

Bozer now supports girls' scholarships at Koç University, in Istanbul through his Donor Advised Fund with TPF. We oversee all transactions, sending quarterly statements, ensuring a smooth process from Ahmet Bozer's donation to the grant given to Koç University. With a Donor Advised Fund, you can diversify your giving. Donors choose a variety of recipients over a period of time for a lump sum donation. Donors can also continuously contribute to their fund as years go on.

Bozer's advice to his scholarship recipients and everyone alike is to see "your life as a journey of development where everything you do is an opportunity to develop yourself to be a better person, professional, friend, family member and a member of your community."

“I can be who I want to be without people telling me it’s not possible because I am a girl.”

Motivated by her Past

Eda and Fatma, two Turkish university students found themselves on a summer afternoon at Chobani’s Soho office meeting with founder, Hamdi Ulukaya. Something neither of them could imagine one year back. Each of them hailing from different cities in Turkey, one originally from Urfa the other from Batman had faced their fair share of difficulties in life. They are both need based scholarship recipients of Çağdaş Yaşamı Destekleme Derneği.

Suddenly, someone life-changing stepped into theirs and three other young women’s lives. Günay Aksoy, a young professional in New York, moved by the inequalities she herself faced while growing up, decided she wanted to make an impact. She wanted to bring girls from southeast Turkey to give them perspective on life and allow them to experience the U.S. for one summer. Through sports events, crowdfunding and one on one meetings, she managed to raise over $20,000, enough to make a difference in the lives of five girls, including Eda and Fatma. The girls attended English courses, visited hospitals, universities, made new friends, but most of all, widened their realm of possibilities. The stories these girls bring back to their hometowns will resonate with their entire community. They will act as role models to other girls in the community but also to parents and brothers and the next generation of women.

When we asked Eda what excited her most about her trip to New York, she said “the lack of judgment. I can be who I want to be without people telling me it’s not possible because I am a girl.”

Members of TPF, Günay Aksoy, Founder of Educ8 and the five scholarship recipients. From left, Goncagül Ay (TPF’s Program Associate), Dilanur Kamalı, Günay Aksoy, Fatma Kilvan, Nevruz Elarslan, Eda Adanır, Gül Ağar.
