LEADERSHIP LETTER

We occupy a unique space in the communities we serve.

Dear Donors, Partners, and Friends,

In a year that marks a century since the Turkish Republic's inception, we have witnessed a remarkable show of unity and collaboration within our community. This significant milestone has prompted us to reflect on the profound journey of a century, to celebrate our progress, and to envision the opportunities that lie ahead.

This year has tested our resilience, particularly with the devastating earthquakes in Southeast Türkiye. Yet, through the rubble and recovery, an undeniable strength emerged from within our community. The way we've come together serves as a powerful reminder that our challenges are also catalysts for collective growth and strength. Our earthquake fund has become a symbol of hope and unity, drawing us together to support those who have suffered unimaginable losses.

We are deeply thankful to each of you—individuals, families, and institutions—that have made generous gifts. Your contributions have gone beyond financial support; they are a testament to the shared sense of humanity that is fundamental to our community's values.

As we narrate the story of this year, it is one not just of challenges but also of remarkable growth, driven by the synergy between our committed partners and the broader community. Our collective generosity has been instrumental in not just rebuilding towns but reviving the very soul of the communities affected. The visible joy, the uplifted lives, and the reclaimed futures of those we assist are the true measures of our success.

Moving forward, our dedication to impactful philanthropy remains steadfast, with our core values of collaboration, impact, transparency, and legacy guiding us. The earthquake fund is a chapter in our larger story of creating sustainable change across education, health, economic development, and cultural preservation—vital pillars to strengthen Türkiye's socio-economic fabric.

Your ongoing engagement paints a powerful picture of our identity—a community united in purpose and action in times of need. Fueled by this spirit of unity and collaboration, Turkish Philanthropy Funds continues to grow, and it is our honor to advance this journey with you.

Turkish Philanthropy Funds is dedicated to preserving the legacy of those who came before us while building a future that will stand as a testament to our collective strength and unity. Together, we are crafting a legacy that will be a source of pride for us all.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER FLOCK TOGETHER

The Story of GENC (Gather Education Champions) Giving Circle

When united, kindred spirits can soar to unprecedented heights. This is the essence of the GENC Giving Circle, a testament to the power of friendship and shared vision. Founded by five best friends, the Circle exemplifies a commitment not just to education but to holistic personal development. For them, learning transcends traditional academics; it's about nurturing reasoning, kindness, and individual talents. Their dedication to equality means they champion both girls and boys in their educational pursuits.

It all started when Serpil, a passionate painter who is also a teacher at Turkish American Cultural Association of Washington State (Turkish American Cultural Association of Washington State), donated one of her paintings to a Turkish Festival in Washington a couple of years ago. She used the proceeds to support a student in Türkiye. The overwhelming requests for support that followed made her realize the need was vast. Serpil realized she couldn't do this alone, she needed help. With the belief that she's stronger with her close-knit group of friends, they united for this inspiring cause of making a difference in young people's lives.

Pooling their resources, leveraging company matching gifts, and rallying support from peers, five best friends have since provided scholarships to 16 students. But their aspirations don't end there. They envision a holistic support system, encompassing not just financial aid but also mentorship, drawing from their collective experiences to guide these young minds. They believe no matter where you live, no matter your social and economic background, you can be whatever you want to be. Their core belief is empowering: every child, regardless of their background, has the potential to achieve greatness.

Serpil, Halime, Pelin, and Gizem have created something special to illuminate the paths of young students in Anatolia. In partnership with Toplum Gonulluleri Vakfi (TOG), we're proud to be a part of their inspiring journey to create equal opportunities for young minds, ensuring every child knows they're cherished, seen, and believed in.

The Secret to Maximizing Your Giving Story

GIVE - GROW - GRANT

TPF encourages the aspirations of individuals, families, and companies who seek to change their community by taking action either in Türkiye or in the US. At TPF, you can establish a giving fund to manage all of your charitable giving. Giving funds help donors grow impact to new levels.

We offer many giving options for your personal philanthropy. The types of funds at TPF are customizable philanthropic accounts designed for individuals, families, and companies who want a personal, simple and flexible yet powerful approach to giving back to our communities. These funds reflect the varied interests of our fundholders and donors and can be in memory of a loved family member or a friend. Because you can fund the account with cash, appreciated stock, and more, you can potentially increase your tax savings and give more to the causes you care about most. TPF makes the process simple and easy.

Opening a giving fund at TPF makes you eligible to claim an immediate tax deduction. This allows you the time to explore the causes and organizations you want to support—no rushing around, which could take the joy out of giving. Our online donor platform lets you view your giving fund history and statements and recommend grants anytime.

ENVISIONING THE REVIVAL OF SMALL VILLAGES

Gamze's business, MyBeachySide, had offices in Adiyaman, Elâzığ, Adana and Diyarbakır. Each one was directly affected, making the experience deeply personal for her and her team.

Gamze Ates founded My Beachy Side to merge sustainable, fair trade practices with the rich crochet traditions of Türkiye, championing responsible business practices. Her goal has been to empower women financially through hand-crafting the company's fashion goods. Only 30% of women work outside homes in Türkiye and this number even goes down in Southern Türkiye. Gamze's vision is to change that not just through employment but also through growth opportunities, leadership workshops, and making sure every woman she works with receives fair wages. She is also committed to sustaining the local economy and preserving the centuries-old textile legacy, primarily sourcing from independently-owned producers in the Buldan region. By using the traditional crochet techniques, which are done by hand, they aim to reduce their carbon footprint. But, for Gamze, in the middle of it all, lies the celebration of tradition and creativity of which the community she has built can take pride in.

Everything she has worked to establish for years crumbled down in a matter of few minutes with the earthquakes - her workshops, her community, and her dreams. All of the four workshops in the region were damaged. The largest devastation was in Adiyaman - 55 of the 60 women employed lost their lives. Despite all the challenges to reach the region, Gamze and her team in Istanbul immediately provided supplies to the survivors.

Yet, she wanted to do more. Using her personal network and the close-knit community of My Beachy Side, she started a campaign with TPF. Her goal was not just immediate relief but to build sustainable, long-term solutions. She says "While many organizations were focusing on urgent needs, we wanted our funds to create lasting change. We used part of the funds to set up a women's center in Bayburt, a region unaffected by the earthquake but susceptible to migration. And, we will continue to create opportunities for women to be financially independent."

Gamze's dream is to develop sustainable villages in Türkiye, keeping in line with the unique DNA of each region. She envisions a model village where sustainability is the central point, intertwined with rich social and cultural life, exceptional educational facilities, and a focus on the well-being of its residents. She believes this model can prevent migration to larger cities, preserve cultural values, and contribute to the local economy.

Gamze's personal commitment to the cause is deeply rooted in her upbringing. As the daughter of a military officer, she moved from one town to another across Anatolia as a child. This will expose her to the unique charm of country living, with its rich traditions, agricultural practices, and close-knit communities. Her family valued community and giving back, viewing it not in financial terms, but as solving a problem or lending a hand. From early on in her life she has seen how philanthropic acts can create a domino effect, benefiting society at large. She says; "the drive to give back isn't just altruistic; it's deeply gratifying and creates a sense of fulfillment." She works with TPF to take her vision to the next level and breathe life into these model villages she has been envisioning.

Gamze believes the earthquake's aftermath was a stark reminder of our responsibilities. Through collaborative efforts and a focus on long-term solutions, she hopes to create a positive impact and help communities rebuild stronger than before.

TYPES OF TPF FUNDS

scholarship funds

Invests in the next generation and supports scholars' growth.

A minimum gift of $5,000 is required.

Read Uçok family's story to see how scholarship funds can make an impact in our communities.

The Uçok Family Endowed Scholarship Fund was established by Hikmet and Marilyn Uçok to give young Turkish women an opportunity to continue their secondary education in the fields of, but not limited to, health sciences and special education within the United States.

The Uçok deeply resonate with the transformative power of education, especially for young Turkish women. They envision a world where every girl, regardless of her background, is equipped with the knowledge and skills to navigate life's challenges. This vision's intent is to enrich the lives of these scholars by offering them an immersive cultural experience in the United States, with the hope that these young women will not only excel in their studies but also experience a world beyond their own. It's a wish that each scholarship recipient brings back to Türkiye additional skills and knowledge that will enhance their professional work. Furthermore, this international experience will hopefully encourage them to embark on their own philanthropic journeys to light up another's path.

The Uçoks believe that TPF, with their extensive partnerships, both in Türkiye and USA, is well positioned to carry out the scholarship's intent.

It's an honor for us at TPF to align with the Uçoks in this remarkable endeavor, crafting a brighter, more inclusive future, one where young Turkish women are powered by the promise of education and unique cultural experiences.

LEGACY OF LEARNING: HONORING THE KELLERS' DEDICATION TO EXCELLENCE IN TEACHING

Throughout our lives, teachers play a pivotal role in igniting our curiosities and fostering our growth. Among such educators, Robert and Dorothy Keller stand out as figures of enduring influence and inspiration, particularly for the alumni of Talas American School for Boys. To celebrate the Kellers' unparalleled commitment to education and their deep connection to Türkiye, Talas Alumni, along with Dr. Jale Onur, an inspiring educator collaborated with TPF to establish the "Excellence in Teaching" initiative. This program is a testament to the Kellers' lifelong dedication and embodies their belief in the ripple effect of education - connecting past to future, culture to culture.

before his passing in 2022, cherished his interactions with past students and the legacy they were crafting in their honor. The essence of the Kellers' philosophy was beautifully encapsulated by Dorothy: "...life is about serving each other. Enter to Learn and Depart to Serve."

Upon Robert's passing, his children, recognizing the expansive impact of their parents on many, took a heartfelt decision. They reached out to the wider community and encouraged those who wished to honor the legacy of the Kellers to contribute generously to the dedicated fund at TPF.

In collaboration with SEV (Health and Education Foundation) and Arizona State University, the "Excellence in Teaching" initiative established at TPF offers comprehensive eight-week programs for teachers. This project emphasizes refining English proficiency and acquainting educators with avant-garde pedagogical methodologies. One enthusiastic participant, driven by graphic design, aims to design insightful materials for her students, while another is on a quest to sharpen her leadership abilities.

Through this initiative, like the Kellers, educators are empowered to leave an indelible mark on the lives of countless students. Here's a salute to the Kellers, the Talas alumni, and every educator across the globe who shapes destinies and warms souls.

The Kellers' journey was deeply intertwined with Türkiye.

Dorothy was born and raised in Türkiye. Both Robert and Dorothy devoted extensive parts of their lives serving mission schools in Türkiye. While Dorothy couldn't witness the creation of the memorial fund dedicated to her and her husband, Robert,

She was known as an inspirational leader who lived life to the fullest. The scholarship supports young women from Türkiye from low-income families to pursue graduate degrees in economics in the United States.

legacy giving

You can preserve your family's legacy for future generations while making our community stronger for generations to come. At TPF, we assist you in exploring avenues to leave a lasting impact on the causes dear to you through thoughtful planned gifts, while collaborating with your trusted advisors. There are many reasons to think of a legacy gift today:

- You can continue to support your philanthropic interests via TPF, be it championing gender equality, fostering education, driving socio-economic growth, or bolstering disaster relief efforts.
- Your gift can ensure TPF's enduring presence to serve the community endlessly.
- You can pass your passion of giving back to your heirs, inspiring them to discover their own philanthropic passions.

DONOR-ADVISED FUNDS IN YOUR ESTATE PLAN

Did you know your DAF at TPF can help you reach your legacy giving goals?

As you contemplate your estate planning and leaving a legacy, you may want to recognize and give to philanthropic causes that have made an impact on you in your life. You may want to make sure that your wishes continue after you've passed away.

Your DAF at TPF can be an important tool to use as part of the estate plan process. Instead of naming specific individual charities as beneficiaries in your estate planning documents, you could name your DAF account as the charitable beneficiary under your will, trust, annuity, insurance contract, or retirement plan or investment account.

FLEXIBILITY. Using a DAF in an estate plan can provide flexibility to adjust giving priorities without some of the typical costs and inconvenience associated with modifying estate planning documents or creating other charitable giving vehicles such as private foundations or supporting organizations.

LEGACY. Your DAF can also be used to effectively pass the gift of philanthropy on to the next generation. Using your DAF at TPF in this way can encourage family philanthropy in much the same way as a private family foundation, but with similar tax benefits and potentially lower legal and accounting costs.

TAX BENEFITS. In general, under federal law there is an unlimited deduction for assets that are distributed to qualified charities, making contributions to a DAF a powerful tool for reducing these taxes!

EFFICIENCY. Identifying your DAF account as a beneficiary can also increase the efficiency of settling a trust or estate because the trustee or executor has clear instructions on how to distribute certain assets in accordance with your wishes. It is much simpler for the trustee or executor to make a single distribution to your DAF than to coordinate distributions to multiple charities.

TPF Offers Many Different Vehicles Without Affecting Your Lifestyle or Your Family’s Security To Make a Lasting Future Gift

	YOUR GIFT	YOUR GOAL	HOW YOU MAKE THE GIFT	YOUR BENEFITS
Real Estate and Bargain Sales	You can retain the right to use your real estate during your lifetime while you receive an immediate tax deduction or can sell an asset to TPF for less than the fair market value and use the difference in value as your gift.	Select this method if a large portion of your personal investments has been in real estate.	Deed your property to TPF or sell it to TPF for less than its market value.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Immediate income tax deduction• No cost during your lifetime• Continue to live in your home• Avoidance of capital gains tax on the value of property exceeding the sale price• Potential estate and income tax reductions to heirs
Retirement Plans	Any retirement plan such as an IRA or a 401(k) or life insurance policy allows you to create a named fund with TPF. Name TPF as the beneficiary and your legacy lives on through the assets transferred to TPF after you pass away.	Select these assets if heirs are in a high-income tax bracket.	Name TPF as the beneficiary of the balance left after your lifetime using the plan’s beneficiary form.	Make the gift from highly taxed assets, leaving other assets for the family.
Charitable Gift Annuities	A simple contract guarantees you a fixed income in exchange for a gift to TPF. The American Council on Gift Annuities sets annuity rates.	Combine the benefits of an immediate income tax deduction and a lifetime income stream.	Transfer assets to TPF and start receiving fixed payments for life immediately.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Fixed income for you or your loved ones beginning at a set date• Immediate income tax deduction• Partial tax-free income• Partial avoidance of capital gains tax in gifts of appreciated assets• Removal of assets from the taxable estate
Charitable Remainder Trust	You can transfer cash and assets to an irrevocable trust and may receive income for life or a certain term of years. The remainder passes to TPF, creating a permanent fund in your name.	Supplement your retirement income while planning a lasting future gift.	Create a charitable trust that pays fixed or variable income for a specific term of years; thereafter the balance is given to you or to loved ones.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• May reduce the future taxable estate• Retain control of trust assets
Charitable Lead Trust	Set up a trust that generates dividends. Throughout the term of the trust, earned dividends go to TPF. REFLECTING ON THE EARTHQUAKE

UNITED UNDER TPF

Within a mere span of nine hours, two earthquakes wreaked 11 cities in Southeast Türkiye on February 6th, leaving scars both on the land and in the heart of the nation. Following pages, detail TPF's unwavering commitment to relief and rebuilding in the affected areas.

Guided by core objectives — from amplifying local organizations and ensuring equitable grant distribution to fostering partner capacities and championing accountability — we've collaborated with 65+ organizations and granted $10.1 million. This unity of purpose, combined with the generous support of our global community, allowed us to swiftly deliver essential aid to those hardest hit.

Yet, true recovery is a journey that extends beyond immediate relief. It demands a vision for the future — one of resilience, growth, and sustainable solutions. In honoring this, our focus in the last few months has been to craft and execute a robust, forward-thinking strategy. Thus, our earthquake fund will further address the deep-rooted psychosocial challenges, invigorate economic development, champion education, and extend support to children with disabilities.

Read more on our response, our need assessment analysis and long-term strategy in our 3rd Month and 6th Month Impact Reports on TPF's website: www.tpfund.org

Spotlight on Donors Making a Real Difference

Kindness comes in many forms. After the earthquake, we've witnessed our community uniting under TPF to help the earthquake victims in many different ways. You donated money and started fundraisers. You gave a percentage of your store's daily sales, reached out to your clients to give, matched your employees' gifts and provided corporate gifts. Thank you for trusting TPF and making this year unforgettable despite the challenges we all faced.

ONE CLICK DOES IT ALL:

How Alper's Call to Action United Communities in the Aftermath of the Gaziantep Earthquakes

When twin earthquakes devastated Gaziantep, it stirred painful memories for Alper Dağlıoğlu, a New Yorker who had lived the 1999 Marmara quake while living in Istanbul. That night, Alper had fled from his home at 3 am, the walls around him shaking, threatening to come crashing down. He spent a sleepless night outside with his neighbors, a brief experience compared to the extended nightmare faced by the 14 million in southern Türkiye during the recent quakes.

As he witnessed the devastation thousands of miles away in New York City, he was compelled to do something.. Thinking of the five core principles of giving back upheld at his workplace, Morgan Stanley, he knew there was no better time or cause than a disaster that put millions in stress to honor this commitment.

Feeling not very confident of his fundraising skills, Alper and his wife Asli set up an online fundraiser page at TPF and began sharing the cause with family, friends and colleagues. It snowballed from there. Their effort blossomed into a community-wide movement, raising hundreds of thousands of dollars for TPF's Earthquake Fund through relentless outreach via emails, social media, and office fundraising events. This impact was further magnified through Morgan Stanley's matching gifts and other corporate giving opportunities, effectively doubling their collective contribution.

We could've never imagined this amount of kindness and support when we started this fundraiser. "Asli and I may be the leader on paper, but this fundraiser is beyond us," he said and continued " We are thankful to all our friends and colleagues for their generosity." Alper is fascinated by how people from all walks of life came together , bound by compassion and a shared resolve to make a difference. People's passion and empathy instilled hope to Alper for the recovery that lay ahead. Alper's story is a great reminder that when we come together in empathy and solidarity, we can surmount even the most insurmountable challenges.

UNITED MORE THAN 100 HOURS ONLINE

Over a captivating 100 hours online, something extraordinary unfolded. Not just a fundraiser, but a marathon of hearts united by a passion for science and technology, and the desire to help the earthquake victims. This was a moment where everyday life paused, where routines were put on hold, and a band of dedicated content creators in the leadership of Barış Özcan came together in a digital space. Each participant and guest contributed their part, creating an inspiring harmony that resonated with audiences worldwide. The task before them was monumental: discussing innovative ways to deal with what disasters like earthquakes bring while raising funds.

Special thanks: Barış Özcan, AçıkBeyin, Açık Bilim, Akademikilink, Astrapera, Ayhan Tarakcı, Bebar Bilim, Diamond Tema, Erdi Özüağ, Evrim Ağacı, Gelecek Bilimde, GUHEM, Hypathia Bilim, Konsol Ussu, Kozmik Anaför, Leegendarium Türkiye, Mesut Çevik, Modart PC, Rasyanolist, Sertaç Aktan, Taylan Yıldız, Technopat, Tek Çare Uzay, Teknolojiseyir, Tolga Ozbek, Uzay Çağında Yolculuk.

They knew that the aftermath of the quake wasn't something to be mended in weeks or mere months. It required years to pick up the pieces of the broken lives, families and buildings. Yet, their goal was empowering — collective effort could rebuild dreams amidst the ruins. In this journey of solidarity, they chose TPF as their partner, entrusting us to amplify their message and mission.

A staggering $655,613.00 was raised, funds that now fuel the transformative work of our partners like AÇEV, TOG, Needs Map, and TEGV on the ground. This endeavor transcends a campaign; it's a testament to the power of human spirit. And it's our promise to you that these contributions are not just funds, but seeds of hope making a genuine difference on the ground.

CREATIVITY FOR A CAUSE:

200+ Photographers. 900+ Orders. 1000+ Prints. $200,000+ Raised
SIX.TWO Editions Rallied the Art World for Earthquake Relief

A small group of US-based creatives bound by their dedication to humanitarian aid came together under the name of SIX.TWO Editions and organized an art fundraiser like we've never witnessed before at TPF.

Long-time friends Ebru, Yeliz, Mitchell, Devin, and Civan felt compelled to act in the face of devastation but were uncertain how to make a meaningful contribution. Inspired by a social media fundraiser, they envisioned leveraging their artistic community for a cause far greater than themselves. The idea? An online photo print sale, uniting the work of over 200 compassionate photographers willing to donate their art to give a hand to the people of Türkiye thousands of miles away.

In just ten days, the team established a website not only showcasing extraordinary art but also channeling the proceeds towards the urgent needs in the quake-stricken region. TPF stepped in as a crucial partner, providing assurance of transparency and diligent use of the funds by meticulously vetting the recipient organizations.

The initiative wasn't merely about raising funds; it was about extending support to the often overlooked minorities and marginalized communities suffering in the earthquake's aftermath. The rapid and heartfelt response from artists and buyers alike turned this fundraiser into a beacon of hope, demonstrating the profound impact of collective action. We at TPF are deeply moved by SIX.TWO Editions' tireless efforts and the wave of generosity they sparked, reminding us all of the transformative power of art and humanity.

A heartfelt thank you to all the photographers who donated their work, and reached out to their own networks and to Six.Two.Editions' printing partner who created wonders in such short time to make this fundraiser so powerful.

Special thanks to Ebru Yıldız, Yeliz Secerli, Mitchell King, Devin Yalkin, and Civan Özkanoğlu for their unwavering support and leadership.

REBUILDING LIVES THROUGH ONE BILLBOARD AT A TIME

When the 7.8 magnitude earthquake hit the southeastern region in Türkiye, an incredible amount of support poured into TPF's Earthquake Fund within seconds. Among these stories of extraordinary generosity stood Can Şengezer, General Manager of an Istanbul based media agency. As he was looking for ways to help with the disaster's aftermath from miles away, he came across Turkish Philanthropy Funds, a name he recognized but hadn't interacted with before. A simple Google search relayed the information he was looking for – a highly trusted organization with highest ratings from all charity evaluators and renowned for its swift and efficient disaster responses within Türkiye.

He reached out to TPF. But, Can's vision stretched far beyond a personal donation; he envisioned a ripple effect of empathy and action. Within hours, his team coordinated with his clients that specialized in billboard advertising in the United States. He contacted an old colleague, Altuğ Şimşek from Firefly- a next gen car top advertising solution firm.

Together, they came up with a plan. They used billboards, ads on taxis, and even ads inside cars to spread the word, telling people how they could help the earthquake victims through TPF.

And it worked! What inspired them the most was the support they received not only from the Turkish American community but also from everyone. No questions asked, no profits calculated. Their plan was a testament to the power of harnessing business networks for humanitarian outreach. Their message reached hundreds of millions of people, not just in one city but all over the United States. It wasn't just the Turkish American community that heard their call; it was everyone. People from NYC to Miami, Chicago to Phoenix, learned about what happened and how they could help.

Their story isn't just about raising money; it's about how kindness can transcend and bring us all together.

THANK YOU

There are more than 120K of you to thank and we unfortunately cannot thank you here individually. Yet, some of you have gone above and beyond – you have dedicated your time and energy, you mobilized your friends and networks. WE ARE BEYOND GRATEFUL FOR YOUR KINDNESS AND DEDICATION. ON BEHALF OF EVERYONE WHO HAS BEEN IMPACTED BY YOUR GENEROSITY, A HUGE THANK YOU FROM THE BOTTOM OF OUR HEARTS!

“ While I was born and raised in Istanbul, I was raised by an Antakya family. My childhood included visits to Antakya and Arsuz to visit my extended family, and hearing about many beautiful stories of Antakya. I was always captivated by the cultural melting pot my family had come from and I had such a fascination for the people of Antakya as well as its history and, I must mention, cuisine. We unfortunately lost members of our community, many of which my family members grew up alongside. We were extremely saddened by the loss of life, the devastating impact on those who remain, and very tough physical damage the town suffered. It is very hard to follow these catastrophes from afar but I felt the need to do something to support those impacted. First, I organized a donation drive with my friends and colleagues who kindly donated and shopped with me for essential items for survivors. We transported these to the NYC Turkish Embassy to be shipped overnight to Hatay. Second, I realized the effectiveness of monetary support to correct organizations & causes and that we can go farther with a dedicated campaign. My friends and colleagues who have been checking in on me from day 1 were extremely generous in contributing to my campaign within minutes of its launch. Beyond raising funds, the campaign furthered the awareness of my community in NYC to the impact of the earthquake and created incremental engagement to the cause. At the end of the campaign, I shared a progress report with those who donated, noting we will be supporting the education of 26 students via scholarship. Folks were thrilled with the update and happy to have participated in this recovery journey.TPF has built a trustworthy presence in NYC and US with good reporting lines that create visibility into the effective use of donations. Building transparency and trust was key to generating engagement for my campaign to support earthquake survivors in Antakya. Being able to reference TPF’s past work and current campaign structure & partnerships enabled immediate engagement. Being able to report on the explicit non-profit engagements and how the funds will be used helped build confidence among those who donated that their support is being directed correctly and effectively.” Izzet Kebudi

BUSINESSES UNITING FOR IMPACT

In the wake of the devastating earthquake, a wave of solidarity swept across the business community. Companies large and small didn't just see an opportunity to help; they felt a responsibility. Their contributions to TPF's earthquake relief efforts went beyond financial donations; they leveraged their networks, resources, and public platforms to make a real difference. From raising awareness to igniting widespread support, these businesses stood with TPF and the affected communities, proving that their commitment to social good is as robust as their drive for commercial success. Their collective action serves as a powerful reminder that businesses have the potential to be catalysts for profound and meaningful change, especially in times of crisis.

"We were devastated when we heard of the earthquake. Thousands of miles away, we wanted to help our community, and raise awareness of the terrible conditions in the region. We were proud to host a fundraiser event, add extra tables to fit more people so that we could increase our impact. It was amazing to see our customers pour in to support our mission. We're thankful for their support, and TPF's immediate response that enabled us to give a hand to the earthquake victims."

Ayşe Uras, Owner, Ayşe's Cafe in Ann Arbor, Michigan

"I grew up in a family where we put an extra plate for our neighbors. Always knowing that not everyone had the same privileges as I had, I was conscious of helping others who might need it. When the earthquake struck, it was an instinct for me and my family to support the survivors through our business. We're grateful that our customers and community in NYC supported our mission to provide relief for the earthquake region. We're thankful for them, and TPF's trustworthy platform. We know that our fundraising efforts helped the region's recovery."

Ramazan Avci, Owner, Zara Forest Grill in New York

We would like to thank all the businesses who supported the earthquake victims through TPF's Earthquake Relief Fund.

Our impact in the region was only possible by your kindness and generosity.

Proceeds from businesses, combined with your in-kind donations enabled us to reach the earthquake community and provide relief.

Turkish-American organizations united under TPF for earthquake relief

We are proud to be the umbrella organization that brought together many Turkish American Associations in the States to help the victims of the earthquake. Organizations big and small, cultural and educational, business and social, came together under the TPF umbrella with a common purpose: providing. Their collective endeavors to give a hand to the disaster-stricken region under TPF not only amplified the impact of the aid but also underscored the powerful bond that ties the Turkish-American community together, demonstrating that even across continents, the spirit of togetherness and the tradition of giving remain unshaken. We would like to thank each and every one of them, and all of their community members for their contributions. We are grateful for their ongoing support, and trust in TPF's leadership and transparency and stay true to our cores to ensure that every penny goes to the earthquake impacted areas.

We're grateful for your support and your contributions – American Turkish Association of Washington DC, Amerikalı Türkler, Cincinnati Turkish American Association, Federation of Canadian Turkish Associations, Florida Turkish American Association, Galatasaray USA, Northern Nevada Turkish Cultural Association, Robert College Alumni Association of America, Society of Turkish American Physicians, Turkish American Association of Louisiana, Turkish American Business Network, Turkish American Chamber of Commerce of the South, Turkish American Cultural Society of Colorado, Turkish American Physicians at UCLA, Turkish American Trabzonspor Fans Association, Turkish Society of Texas, Turkish-Americans of Falls Church, Young Presidents Organization, Young Turks.

“With our community in Houston, we did our best to gather essential needs in the region from baby formulas, to tents and winter clothes for the victims and sent them to Türkiye with the help of the Turkish Consulate. In a few weeks, we understood the importance of monetary support rather than in kind donations to make a difference in the region. Knowing TPF's transparent and trustworthy reputation, it was no brainer for us to choose TPF's Earthquake Relief Fund to fundraise for the survivors on the ground. We've done our best in the following months to reach out to our database, and local businesses in the Houston area and make every contribution count. We're not done yet. We're organizing our annual Turkish Festival and with the proceeds, we'll keep supporting the relief efforts and recovery period through TPF.”

Ebru Ak
ATA of Houston

“Some of us were born and raised in Türkiye and settled in the Washington area after our studies and started our careers in the States. While some of us were born and raised here as second generation Turkish Americans.

When we heard of the earthquake, we collected in-kind donations from our community and sent close to 10 tons of winter clothing, baby items, sleeping bags, medications and medical aid kits to the victims of the earthquake. It didn't seem enough regardless of how many boxes we've managed to ship from the States to the region. So we focused our efforts on fundraising and analyzed TPF's 3rd month impact report. The report gave us insights on where the funds were needed the most in our communities. In addition to TPF's general Earthquake Fund, we chose to support children, education, and women through LOSEV, BUMED and Needs Map. Through reports and updates from the region from TPF, we know that we've made the right decision to trust TPF's leadership and experience in disaster relief.”

students stand together with TPF

Turkish Student Associations across the United States have, under our guidance, committed to giving a hand to those affected. Their collective efforts, fueled by our shared heritage and a heartfelt desire to contribute, demonstrate the power of solidarity in times of need. They're not just student organizations; they're a lifeline.

Thank you for all your time, fundraising efforts, and commitment to help the earthquake region - American Heritage Schools, Barnard Columbia Students, Boca Raton Community High School, Carnegie Mellon University, Colgate University, Drexel University, Emma Willard School, Florida International University Turkish Student Association, Integration Charter Schools George Washington Turkish Student Association, Georgia Tech Students, Graduate students from Türkiye at Binghamton, Harvard Business School Turkish Community, KU Turkish Student Association, Michigan State University Turkish Student Association, Middlesex College, New England Turkish Student Association, New York Medical College Student Fundraiser, Newark Academy, Oklahoma University Turkish Student Association, Parsons School of Design, Pratt Institute Turkish Student Association, Purdue University Engineering Students, Rowan College at Burlington County Student Senate, Swarthmore Students, The Birch Wathen Lenox School, The Pennington School, The University of Maryland Turkish Student Organization, Trinity College Turkish Students, The Turkish American Student Association of University of Delaware, Turkish American Students of Okemos High School, Turkish Graduate Student Association at USC, Turkish Student Association at University of Georgia, Turkish Student Association of Dartmouth College, Turkish Student Association of John Hopkins University, Turkish Student Organization at Auburn University and Albany State University, Turkish Students at Fordham, UIC Turkish Community, UMass Lowell Turkish Cultural Club, UMD Turkish Student Organization, University of Connecticut Turkish Student Alliance, University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign, University of Kansas, University of Massachusetts Boston Students, University of Massachusetts Lowell, Vanderbilt University Turkish Student Association.

“In the first two days of the earthquakes, we were stunned by the news we were getting from social media and friends living in the area. I know many Turkish people living far away from their families, friends, and their home country felt helpless. Many of us donated money or sent help in other ways, but it does not make you feel better because you know we can do better. Since many of us in our community are either university students or faculty, we prepared posters and fliers explaining what’s happening in our home country and how we feel about it. We started a table sitting on campus every day for a week to inform more people about this disaster. It helped us share our grief with other people and give them the opportunity to help the people affected by the earthquake. Local news channels also covered our efforts. Last year, I started another donation campaign with TPF for wildfires in Türkiye, and I was impressed by the transparency of how the donations were used. Therefore, I decided to choose TPF again. Our hope was to help with exactly that. We were not sure how much help our donations would provide to immediate relief efforts, but we did know that the people who survived this disaster, especially the children, would need help in the long term.”

Caner Tol, Worcester Polytechnic Institute Turkish Student Association

“As a Turkish graduate student in Syracuse, NY, my initial goal was to reach out to students and faculty on campus and raise awareness about what happened in Türkiye. I wanted to make sure our relief efforts will be delivered to the people in need in the fastest and most transparent way possible. I checked different platforms, and also checked how student associations on other campuses were organizing and raising donations. That’s how I found out about TPF’s campaign. It was very straightforward, easy to access and disseminate, and also allowed individual/local campaigns to be formed and tracked. We were able to use only one link/QR code to inform people about our cause, donation page and payment options. The website was very user friendly, and was accessible by not only Turkish or Turkish American people but also the international publics that we wanted to reach, inform about and ask help for the tragedy in Türkiye. I also realized that people really like to check the progress of our university’s donation campaign, feel attached to it, and share it with their own circles, rather than donating for a more generic aid program. Even our friends and families in Türkiye or other countries posted and reposted our campaign link on their social media accounts. We put the QR code of our TPF campaign on our donation posters, and put them across the campus as well as on public spaces of the city of Syracuse. TPF allowed for a quick, transparent and trustworthy platform for immediate care and help, and I am grateful for it.”

Ayşe Durakoğlu, Syracuse University

“Witnessing Derin and Sarp taking such an initiative and seeing their dedication to make a positive impact on the lives of the earthquake victims filled me with a sense of hope for the future. As a parent, I strongly believe in instilling values such as empathy, compassion, and community involvement in our children. Looking back, the wildfire in Delikoyl Selimiye in the summer of 2021 was a reminder of the fragility of our environment and the importance of unity. The scene was chaotic, with smoke billowing in the air and fast-approaching flames to the farm where we were staying. The heat was intense and sweat dripped down our faces as everyone fought against the spreading blaze. As the fire raged on, we were no longer strangers but a united force, working together to save what we could. Derin and Sarp helped to evacuate the animals. I believe this experience taught all of us that in times of crisis, we are capable of incredible acts of selflessness and kindness. Thus, when the devastating earthquake struck the southern part of Türkiye in Feb’23, Derin and Sarp immediately wanted to launch a fundraising campaign. They were pleased to raise $4,205 to help those in desperate need.”

“I learned TPF from my old friend, Erkut. I've known him for many years since we are both in Massachusetts. After I heard the news of the earthquake, I called him and asked where we can make a donation to support the victims in Türkiye. I wanted to send our support to the right organization, which can make an impact right away, and I knew I could trust his recommendation, it was TPF. We organized a small fundraising event at a Vietnamese charitable organization, in which I'm a part of. We had a musical performance at the event but what amazed me was the support coming from my community. The event lasted one day, but donations kept coming for weeks. All donations were in small amounts ranging from $50 to $60, but in the end, it totaled up to $100k! I felt proud to be a part of this inspiring community full of kind people. As a Vietnamese community, we shared the pain and loss of the victims, and the devastating situation in Türkiye. “

MAGICAL PLACE FOR SURVIVOR CHILDREN

Healing children and giving them a chance to excel in life

GRANTEE ORGANIZATION	ÇUKUROVA UNIVERSITY FOUNDATION
Project Details	In collaboration with the Çukurova Üniversitesi Sanayi İşbirliği Vakfı, Türk Pediatri Kurumu, Çocuk Acil Tıp ve Yoğun Bakım Derneği ve T.C. Çukurova University, establishing a center for amputated children who will receive the necessary treatment, prosthesis, and physiotherapy to become independent, productive individuals; additionally, the center will increase awareness in society on this issue.
Project Objective	Providing physical and mental health care for amputated children in the earthquake region to support their healing and give them a chance to excel in life after the losses they've encountered.
Grant Amount	$ 576,220 (total) - 276,220 (sent)

Melike, a 10-year-old girl, was pulled from the rubble 102 hours after the earthquake by volunteer miners who rushed to the region to help. That day, she tragically lost her father, brother, and sister. But Melike lost more than just her loved ones; she also lost part of her left leg below the knee.

Emir, just 6 years old, was rescued with his mother after a grueling nine-hour effort by the Antakya rescue teams. Although he lost his left leg, the unwavering support and love from his mother filled him with hope for the future.

These children's stories caught the attention of a group of doctors in the United States. Concerned about the healthcare in the affected region, they reached out to medical colleagues in Türkiye. They pinpointed an urgent need: care for the children who had survived amputations. As experts in health, they understood the importance of proper ongoing treatment to prevent lifelong physical challenges.

We were thrilled to support their vital mission by joining forces.

TPF provided the initial funds to create the Children Wellness Center, the first of its kind in Türkiye at Çukurova University. With additional support from many others, TPF's initial contribution has blossomed into a center that continues to grow and serve.

Now, Melike, Emir, and 135 other children who suffered limb losses are receiving the care they need. They've all undergone successful surgeries and are walking again, thanks to top-quality prosthetics. But our project isn't just about physical healing. These children will receive rehabilitation and psychological support until they turn 21, helping them heal emotionally from their trauma and loss.

What comes next? TPF and Çukurova University are dedicated to continuing the rehabilitation for these children and to establishing the "Mükemmeliyet Merkezi" – the Excellence Center. Here, doctors will deepen their expertise in pediatric limb amputation and spearhead research in this critical field of surgery.

A CHOIR OF HOPE IN THE MIDDLE OF RUBBLES

The famous Long Bazaar in Antakya, the heart of the city is now nothing but rubbles. But before February 6th, it was unique. There are many bazaars with authentic shops, and local, handmade products all around the world so why would this landmark be any different? It was one of a kind because of its community. This street was the only street in Türkiye where shop owners had different religions, cultures and background, and lived in harmony. This street, which had been a home to a community from different backgrounds, religions, beliefs, also sparked the idea of Civilizations choir of Antakya. A choir where a housewife, a priest, a student, a warden, a mailman, a doctor, any many more come together, leaving their differences behind and sing together. During the day, they had their daily jobs, and families they tended to. But when they gathered to practice, they would leave everything outside their studio, and sing folklores as one.

Yilmaz Özfirat founded this special musical group to remind all of us that regardless of where we come from, what we believe in, we are a community. Under his guidance, this group of people traveled the world, even performed at the White House balcony welcoming a new president on his first day, and promoted a sense of togetherness.

Yilmaz thought himself as a music teacher who had a talent for identifying hidden talents. He saw life through rose-colored glasses, but that changed on February 6th at 4.17am. He was sleeping on his couch in front of television at his home in Antakya. When the earthquake struck, he flew from the couch and got stuck under a cabinet, which created a triangle of life and saved his life. He waited for 8 hours under the rubble without any conscious of time. He thought, this must be the end of world. He lost many friends that day, but some of the ones who survived hurried to his apartment, and searched for him. He could hear them, but they couldn't hear him. But they never gave up and rescued him by digging through concrete pieces. First thing he remembers is people yelling, holding him tightly and trying to protect him from the heavy rain. But he wanted to feel the rain, because he wanted to feel alive again. He survived but seven people from his choir didn't, like many others in the region. He lived in tents for weeks, warmed up with fire in freezing degrees, lost all his hope in a collapsed city. Until, he got a call from his friends in the States, and connected with TPF. With your generous donations that poured within hours after the earthquake, TPF provided Yilmaz and his choir immediately with relief assistance.

What happened next? Yilmaz gathered his choir, and helped them get back on their feet. Not just by assisting them financially for a shelter, safe space, food and clothes but most importantly, he encouraged them to sing again. And that's when the healing process of his choir started. They bought new costumes when they didn't have a shirt to spare. They started practicing wherever they could, as their studio did not survive the earthquake. They performed for whoever stayed in the region as many migrated to other cities. They traveled in poor conditions as they all lost their cars along with their homes in one night. Until the earthquake, music was like a hobby for them, promoting the idea of togetherness despite all their differences in religion, social and economic situation and backgrounds. After the earthquake, music became their hope. Hope to have a future, hope to rebuild their lives, and hope to encourage other 13 million earthquake victims to start again regardless of what they had lost. 6 months after the earthquake, they keep traveling the whole country spreading hope and raising funds to help others. They already raised enough funds to build an elementary school in Antakya, which is ready to enroll in the next school year!

After everything Yilmaz has been through, he considers himself lucky. He was lucky that he didn't sleep in his bedroom that night because the flat upstairs collapsed right on top of it. He was lucky that he convinced his wife to visit their daughter studying for her finals. He was lucky that he connected with you, through TPF. He was lucky because all his life, he worked hard to promote togetherness, and that idea of togetherness, gave him his life back, along with his colleagues.

BRINGING HOPE BACK TO COMMUNITIES

How Sinemasal is uplifting communities through movies

GRANTEE ORGANIZATION	SINEMASAL
Project Details	Establishing a Sinemasal Campus in Samandağ, Hatay, designed to offer children and youth, who are currently residing in tents and container cities, the opportunity to engage in workshops and outdoor activities. The project is specifically targeted at young individuals aged between 5 and 17, providing them with six hours of enriching outdoor experiences per day, alongside extracurricular workshops.
Project Objective	Leveraging interactive and experiential learning methodologies, providing engaging out-of-school activities for holistic child and adolescent development. By doing so, we aim to enrich the lives of these young individuals, fostering their growth and resilience, notwithstanding the challenging living conditions in their current residence within tents and container cities.
Grant Amount	$89,364

On the morning of February 6th, the Sinemasal team, dedicated to sharing the wonder of movies with underserved communities, found themselves racing toward the earthquake zone. You might question why a nonprofit using the power of art to deal with trauma would be amongst the first responders to a disaster. Their answer is simple: they wanted to help in any way they could. In the immediate aftermath, films took a backseat to urgent rescue operations and the distribution of vital donations to the outlying villages.

As tent cities were built, Sinemasal sought to restore some normalcy into people’s lives amidst the devastation. Negotiating with a local landlord, they secured a vacant land to set up a community hub.

Transforming this land into a sanctuary, Sinemasal created more than an outdoor theater; they established a communal space where healing could begin. The Sinemasal Hub became a center of hope, hosting parenting workshops, childcare, and educational support. It’s a place where kids forget their losses and get their faces painted and sing songs. Mothers found resources for their families, and students had a place to continue their education away from their temporary homes.

This was all made possible by you.

Your contributions gave volunteers the means to change the narrative of despair. The Sinemasal Hub, now a vibrant home for the region’s children, thrives on your generosity, a testament to the enduring spirit of safety and peace you’ve helped gifted.

SUPPORTING CHILDREN’S JOURNEY BACK TO SCHOOL

Empowering children through Education as they rebuild their lives

It’s been more than seven months and yet, the education situation is complicated in the southeastern region of Türkiye. In some cities, school buildings survived with less damage but residents are no longer in the neighborhood; they found shelter with relatives but with limited transportation means. In some areas, there are container schools where children residing in containers can attend but many families have no financial means to keep up with stationary needs and registration fees of public schools. Whereas, some families feel uncomfortable sending their children to damaged buildings fearing they might not come back if another earthquake occurs. Migrating families due to the earthquake face other issues with school registration because of change of residence.

Regardless of the reasons, the issue of children not being able to go school still remains and is a big one. With your generous support, TPF partnered up with Yuva Association to financially support 200 children in the earthquake region. Thanks to your kindness, families are no longer troubled with stationary expenses, school registration fees and a safe commute in school buses to their schools. We are determined to make sure all children in the region are at school, where they deserve and need to be, and provide financial support for many.

With your support, they’ll thrive in their lessons, and find comfort in their classrooms surrounded by their friends, teacher’s and all the activities. Their attendance in school means so much to the region, to their families and to themselves. It’s a big part of the recovery period, and we’re here to empower children through education as they rebuild their lives.

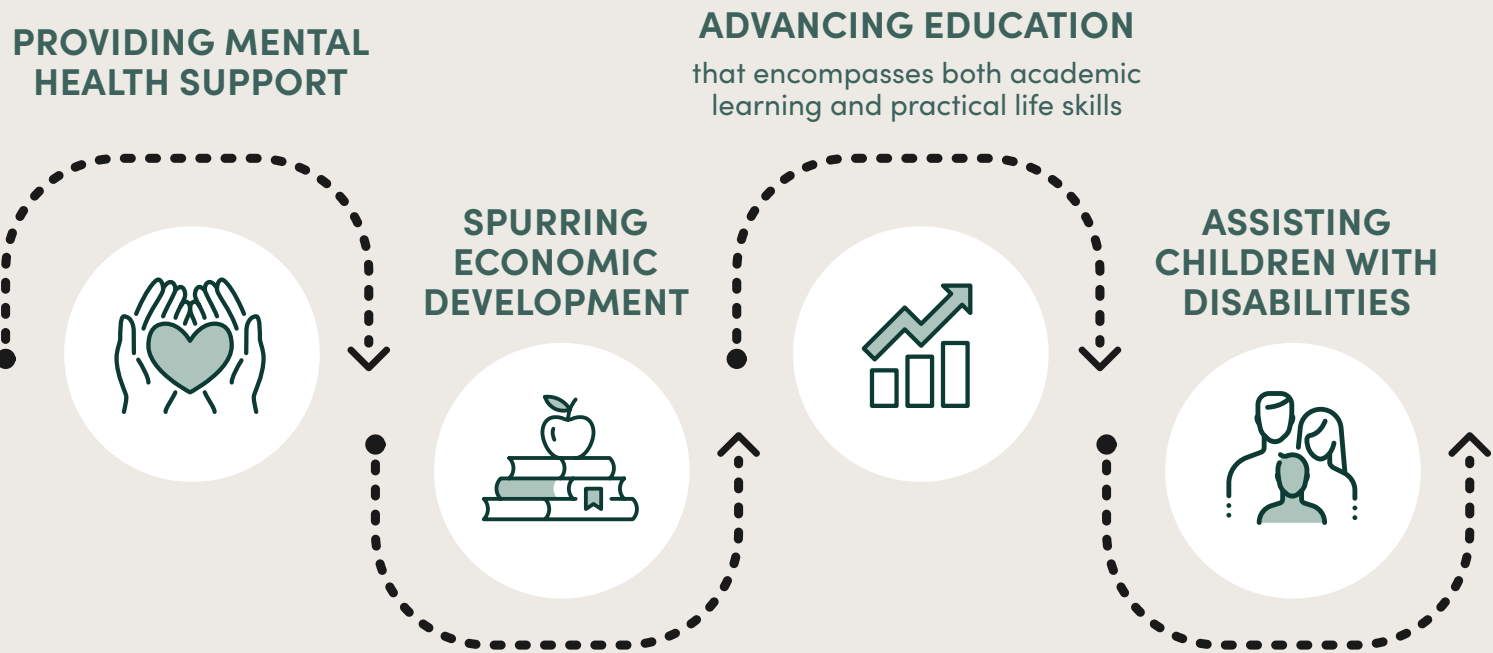

GRANTEE ORGANIZATION	YUVA ASSOCIATION
Project Details	Provided cash assistance to 200 children and their families impacted by the earthquake for 11 months.
Project Objective	Financially supporting children in the region to enhance their education, life skills and overall well-being and preparing them for a brighter future despite the challenges they have faced.
Grant Amount	$75,900

These donors have made the decision to make a lasting difference for their community by creating a permanent fund in Turkish Philanthropy Funds. Some put TPF in their wills, others stipulate that their current funds be managed by TPF long after they are gone. TPF LEADERSHIP

“My connection to my heritage is a treasured aspect of my identity, one that I’ve sought to share with those who hold Türkiye close to their hearts.

I have been with TPF from the very start, when it was just an idea we talked about over coffee. It felt completely right to be a part of it right from the beginning. We envisioned a community united, investing with collective strength, making a positive change. Now, 16 years on, we stand as a testament to that dream, having grown into the leading community foundation we aspired to become.

My tenure as Chairman has been nothing short of extraordinary—witnessing the transformative power of our board’s dedication, our staff’s tenacity around our Executive Director, Senay Ataselim, our donors’ belief in our cause, and the synergetic partnerships with NGOs in Türkiye. These are the pillars that uphold TPF, and it has been an honor to be a part of this incredible family.

As I reflect on my journey with TPF, I am filled with gratitude for the boundless kindness and generosity of the wonderful people that have become more than friends—they are family.

As I hand over the reins to Mustafa Kemal Abadan, I do so with pride for his visionary guidance and a heart full of thanks to everyone I’ve crossed paths with, every life we’ve touched, every donor who’s part of the TPF legacy. This isn’t the end of a chapter, but a continuation of a legacy that will resonate with me forever, far beyond any title.”

“Family and work have always been my guiding stars, but when Haldun Tashman introduced me to the idea of TPF, a community foundation through which I could contribute alongside others with a shared passion for giving, it struck a chord with me instantly. That conversation 16 years ago didn’t just open a new chapter in my life; it redefined my priorities. Suddenly, I had three cores at the center of my existence: family, work, and TPF.

Growing up with academically driven parents, the significance of education was always front and center. Our home was open to relatives and my parents’ students in need, teaching me that giving goes beyond finances; it’s about providing emotional support with the same passion. Just when I was thinking of building a legacy for my parents that would outlive myself, and continue through my son, I was introduced to the idea of TPF. As the founders’ vision of tackling social challenges and creating sustainable change in Türkiye mirrored my parents’ vision, I knew I had found my place.

Now, 16 years later, my pride in TPF’s journey is immeasurable. We’ve grown from a small of visionaries into a robust community dedicated to making a difference in Türkiye and beyond. The overwhelming support and trust placed in us during the earthquake response affirmed our mission, allowing us to offer a helping hand to those affected, just as we had envisioned.

Today, as TPF stands as a dynamic and community-focused force, with inspiring donors, devoted Board Members, and diligent partners on the ground, I am honored to take on the role of Co-Chairman alongside Mehmet Kırdar. Looking ahead, I am committed to ensuring that our collective efforts will be a legacy passed on to the generations that follow.”
